An honor roll of 15 upper division and 19 lower division students who achieved 16 credit hours or more of straight "A" grades during the fall quarter at BYU was released today by John E. Hayes, registrar.

All parts of Utah and six states were represented by students on the honor roll, said Mr. Hayes. Eight students from Provo appeared on the roll and two from Salt Lake City.

Upper division students in the junior or senior year at BYU who achieved the distinction were: Arlene Bee Alfred, Mr. Pleasant, Alfred Bryson, Bonifield, J. Odell Christensen, Pleasant Grove; A. Burt Horley, Brigham City; Mary Donna Jones, Pocatello, Idaho; Thomas LeRoy Loveridge, Lehi; Helen Rae Olpin, Columbus, Ohio; Walter S. Pickett, Ogden; Mary L. Roskelley, San Luis Obispo, California; Gloria Simmons, Provo; Ericka E. Smith, Provo; Jeanne Turner, Morgan; John R. Walker, American Fork; Horace Neil Williams, Huntington; and Beth Wilson, Payson.

Lower division students appearing on the honor roll were: Ellen Ashworth, Provo; Phyllis S. Barnes, Long Beach, California; Nancy Booth, Provo; Nan Rae Brossard, New Orleans, La.; Brooke Cardigan, Canon City, Colo.; Victoria Hays, Provo; Marian Stratford Hyde, Chevy Chase, Md.; Andrew Eyring Klumbe, Salt Lake City; Edna A. Knudsen, Provo; Marie Marshall, Provo; Alice Maria Robertson, William J. Rutter, Mahad City, Idaho; Ida L. Whitaker, Salt Lake City; Donna Mack Thirkle, Salt Lake City; Leona Leda Jean Widdison, Hooper; Leona Winger, Wendell, Idaho; Sally Sue Widdison, Springville; Maxine Overholte, Provo; Donna Ellertson, Provo.

Council Releases Dance Schedule

The student council today released a full schedule of Winter Quarter dances, including three semi-formal affairs.

Following the Cougar tilt with the University of Utah, Redskins, the student council will sponsor a "Victory" dance in the Joseph Smith building.

The Banyan Ball, first semi-formal of the season will be February 2 in the Smith building. Feature of the evening will be the presentation of the Banyan queen. The following Saturday Utah State meets the Cougar here.

A Rally Dance February 9 in the Smith building will precede a basketball game with Colorado University, February 10 in the women's gym. The Associated Men students take over the annual Sweetheart ball this year. A traditional semi-formal affair, the men select a sweetheart of the campus to reign over the festivities February 16.

On Friday, February 23 the student body will present a sport dance and on the following night the Cougar tilt goes into action against the Wyoming expression.

One of the traditionally big dances of the year, the "Sophomore" dance, will be held on March 2 this year. A semi-formal dance, it is under the direction of the student body officers.

A regular student body dance is on the docket for March 9. The French club has scheduled a dance, 16 for a gala French celebration, a Mardi Gras in costume. Topping the list of dances will be class parties March 23, the final day of the quarter.

1945 Banyan Sales Increase; Annual Ball to Climax Buying Campaign

GI Students Increase at Y

An increase of more than 30 per cent in registration for returning service men under the GI Bill of Rights and Rehabilitation programs was reported at Brigham Young university as compared with registration during the fall quarter in a report by Joseph S. Nicholas, professor of chemistry and chairman of the GI committee.

A total of 40 returning service men have registered under both programs at BYU as compared with 30 the fall quarter, said Professor Nicholas.

The total of 40 includes 24 registered under the GI Bill of Rights and 16 under the Rehabilitation program. Late registration is expected to increase registration for the winter quarter to between 40 and 50, Professor Nicholas added.

Attention

All clubs or units who have not purchased picnic space in the 1945 Banyan, use the Sandbar at once at the Banyan office. Friday is positively the deadline to reserve space for this year's Banyan.

Home Ec. Gets New Room

Brigham Young university home economics department will soon have a new clothing and textile classroom in the old college building ready for use, it was announced today by Margaret Olsen Harris, assistant professor of home economics.

The room was formerly a portion of the girls' dormitory but has been repainted, equipped with fluorescent lights, new cupboards and filing cabinet.

The room will accommodate approximately 24 students and will be put into use as soon as the new tables and sewing machines arrive.

Extensive communication credits, an interest in all phases of language," Professor Cummings added, that service of the department has extended from a few of the more commonly taught languages such as French and German to include classes in Italian, Spanish, Polish, Russian, Latin, Hebrew and other Semitic languages.

Union Hall Fund Exceeds $29,000

A gift of $200 to the Brigham Young university student fund, made by Leo N. Lewis, Provo businessman, has brought the total fund to more than $29,000, Dr. Franklin S. Harris, president of BYU, said today.

Gifts to the fund since January have totaled $1,486, including eight of $100 each and one of $250 in addition to that of Mr. Lewis, said Dr. Harris.

Included in the gifts received during January totaling more than $100 are as follows: Martin J. Greenwood, Salt Lake City, $100; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Oakes, Provo, $100; Frederick K. Hinkley, Salt Lake, $50; Dr. J. G. Jones, Provo, $100; Lynn D. Taylor, Pleasant View, $100; Dr. O. Ellis Dwyer, serving in the armed forces, $100; Jean Cannon Wilkie, George Irvine, Dan and Lucy Cannon, Dutton, Salt Lake City, $100 each.

Library Receives Gift Volumes

A total of 1,468 books, including gifts and books purchased, were added to the Brigham Young university library during the fall quarter, it was reported today by Anna Ollerton, librarian.

The largest number of books added in any one department or division was 225 in the division of religion, said Miss Ollerton. Next highest was the language department with 215 books, including 125 in Germanic and Scandinavian languages.

Professor Granted Leave of Absence

Dr. Elmo Coffman, assistant professor of geography, has been granted a leave of absence from the university to take up work with the United States Reclamation service in the western states. L. Elliot Tuttle will assume his teaching responsibilities at the university and teach the geography courses during the period of his leave. Dr. George H. Hansen, acting dean of the college of arts and sciences, announced today.

Sales for the 1945 Banyan are progressing rapidly with a total of over 300 yearbooks already sold, Bill Pultisher, sales manager, announced today.

The Banyan ball, set for February 2, will climax the sales drive now under way. The ball will be semi-formal and a queen will be selected to reign. Candidates will be selected by each social unit and campaigning will precede voting. Balloting will take place on February 1 after the girls are dressed in assembly. She will be crowned at the dance.

The Banyan ball will have a blue leather potted cover with white lettering. There will be individual pictures for classes and social units. Group pictures will include language and regional theme. Group pages will be devoted to characteristic snap shots of Y service men.

All students are expected to keep their appointments and be on time for them.

Roman Andrus Exhibit Shown

Portraits and landscapes completed in recent months by Roman Andrus, of the Brigham Young university art department, will be on exhibit until February 14 in the Provo city library.

The paintings have not previously been shown in Provo. They include portraits of J. W. Thornton, principal of the Farrer junior high school; Prof. John C. Swen, dean of the College of William Boyk, BYU, and others.

New among the portrait studies is "Mamma Maria-Beleva," featuring the artist's daughter playing the violin. Also in the group is "Dressmaker" which shows the "dressmaker" at work on the "Whimsy" at the State Fair in September.

Shipley M. Snow Acclaimed Junior Prom Chairman

Shipley M. Snow was acclaimed by the Brigham Young university student body as the annual Junior Prom chairman.

Mr. Snow's name was submitted to the student body at an assembly last week.

Mr. Snow was nominated as a candidate for the chairmanship by the Junior class in a class meeting.

The new prom chairman indicated he would appoint committees in the near future to launch plans for the prom which is the highlight of the BYU social season. The annual affair is usually held the latter part of February or the first part of March, but the date has not yet been announced.

Faculty Members Send Specimens

More than 300 specimens of amphibian and reptiles, and more than 16,000 of insects have been sent to the Brigham Young university zoology department from Grand Island and the Admiralty Islands by two BYU faculty members and a former student serving in the US armed forces in the South Pacific. It was announced by Dr. Vaso M. Tanner, professor of zoology and department head.

A total of approximately 300 reptiles and amphibian specimens were collected on Grand Island by D. L. Elden Beck, serving in the US army medical corps in charge of a malaria unit in the Solomon Islands; Corp. Ernest Reinisch, serving in the photographic intelligence service of the US army; and Technical Sergeant Doyle E. Taylor, serving with a malaria unit of the US army.

Dr. Beck and Mr. Reinisch sailed on leave from the BYU faculty where they served as assistant professor of zoology and entomology and garden and assistant in

Language Interest Shows Mount

Interest in classical and modern languages continues to mount at the university, according to a report by Benjamin F. Cummings, professor of modern and classical languages and department head.

"Other lands and languages have come into the consciousness of our students because of the present world conflict, and there is an increased stimulus to learn how the other half of the world speaks," said Professor Cummings. During the past 25 years the percentage of modern language students at the university has risen from 12 per cent to 18 per cent, the total registration at BYU has risen gradually from 8 per cent to 26 per cent reported for the autumn quarter.

Because of increased student demand for modern languages, courses in beginning Russian and beginners' French are being taught this quarter.

Birds and Mice Furnish Material For Second Allegory of Young University

Once upon a time a colony of mice lived in a large field. The mice worked and played happily together, molested only occasionally by birds of prey. One day several mice were gathering grain in the field, they were suddenly frightened by two solemn sound eyes peering at them through the grass stalks. One of the most venturesome mice finally crept close enough to see that the blinking creature was a small, baby bird. Encouraged by the valor of the first mouse, the other mice drew nearer to investigate their strange visitor.

"We sat a long time, hardly saw a tiny dove bird can do us no harm. Perhaps it will play with us."

"Oh, yes," all the mice agreed

"We sat a long time, hardly saw a tiny dove bird can do us no harm. Perhaps it will play with us."

"let us feed it and keep it for a pet."

Thus it was that the little bird was adopted by the field mice, who fed it well and tended it carefully. To be sure, there were some of the older mice who had misgivings about the strange new creature in the colony. One or two even thought it resembled their arch enemy, the owl, but they were braved overly cautious fuddy-duddies.

The bird thrived and grew on the grain and bugs the mice brought, and it was not long before it fluttered and chirped at them through the air on its downy wings.

"See, see!" cried the mice, "Our bird can fly. What fun it would be to fly!"

One eager voice shrieked above the rest, "We can fly—we can!"

"Be careful, all the mice clamored for a ride on the bird's back. The eager crowder, who had made the brilliant suggestion, stepped forth to take charge.

"I have decided," proclaimed he, "that we cannot all ride at once."

"True," said the mice, "This is a wise leader."

"I will ride on the bird," continued Eagle Squeaker, "and then I will let some of the rest of you ride."

The bird dignified leader stepped proudly forth and mounted his feathered steed. By a bit of good, providing the bird was in

Better Buy Your Banyan

About ten years from now your college days will be just a happy memory. You will faintly be able to recall that girl who sat next to you in zoology, that fellow you tagged at the nat dance. The Prom you attended for the first time will make you smile reminiscently. Your unit brothers and sisters will be scattered to the far corners of the world perhaps, and you would certainly like to remember their names and faces.

The boy friend who was away in the service in 1944-45 surely missed something at school. If you could only remember all those things you wanted to tell him about! You can just picture the Sweetheart Ball that year, but words can't explain it to him. And all those new students you met in school!

You told your mother and dad back home about your favorite teacher and wished many times they could have met him. You're real proud of that assembly you were chairman of and you'd like proof of it to take home to show the rest of the gang.

It's a problem, isn't it?

Or is it?

Not when you think about it. About next May you will have, bound in an attractive leather cover, with "Banyan" written on it, your whole school year in 250 pages. You can proudly show your family and friends all the things you talked about so enthusiastically. You can sit down ten years from now and your career at BYU will be made clear to you with each flick of a page. The boy friend can see what he missed.

There are plenty of salesmen ready, willing, and able to sign you up for a 1945 Banyan. Get your yours today—and why not an extra one for the person who is away from school this year? You'll be glad you have a 1945 Banyan.

March Your Dimes . . .

Last year the second worst epidemic of infantile paralysis hit the United States. Many of the victims were little children. Many were cured of lighter cases, but still many more are pitiful invalids as a result of the dread disease.

These children—and some grown-ups, too—still badly need medical aid. Infantile paralysis needs special care, with special facilities.

You can give this special care and special facilities by contributing all you can to the March of Dimes which is annually held in January. This drive opens each year to celebrate President Roosevelt's birthday. Your cooperation will make the drive a success.

It's really amazing what your dime can do. It may help some crippled child to walk, or to become normal again. It may relieve some suffering invalid from the pains of paralysis. It may lessen the mental anguish such a handicap can throw on youth.

Give more than you can to the 1945 March of Dimes drive. You can't realize just how much you are helping.

AMS Song Contest Slated; Prizes Given

Annual Associated Men Students song contest at Brigham Young university will be held from January 26 to February 26, it was announced today by Bryan West, Reliance.

First, second and third prizes of $15, $5 and $2.50 respectively will be awarded the winners of the contest which is open to BYU students, he added. Winning songs will be featured in the annual AMS assembly sometime during March and presented over Collier Van Ness, weekly BYU radio broadcast.

Rules of the contest were announced by Mr. Belnap as follows: music of each song must be either popular or semi-classical, each song with the words must be original whether composed by one student or a group and contestants must register with Mr. Belnap or George Uyeda. Judges for the contest will be chosen from the BYU faculty, said Mr. Belnap.

Knighty knights . . .

By Mary Jane Miner

Onions are white. Iodine is brown.
M.J.'s here. Let's go to town.

We heard gey "hello's" as the merry young girls came tripping back to Knight Hall after greeting Santa and the New Year. From the looks of the excess baggage everyone must have really cleaned up on this Yule stuff.

Have you seen that new black and red plaid bathrobe Phyllis Barnes has been sporting? It's hardly loud at all. And to think she and her Grandfather can wear the same slouchers.

Legia Mendenhall had a delightful trip home. She found things a little changed, though. When her Mother screams now they know she's not cranky, but the radio's on and she's listening to Frankie Orchids to Marge Hart, and I do mean orchids. It was the real McCoy she was wearing last Sunday. No, it wasn't McCoy either—Bruce Tanner was the Santa Claus.

I guess you know who was the best of sock at the Sock Hop. Yes, none other than AK's own dormitory daughter, Carol Wheelwright. Congrats, Carol.

We are all still wondering who came in with the milkman Friday night—or Saturday morning. Which reminds me: We haven't seen my niece, since she hid in that traveling man valise.

Seems Julie Hansen has found her true and noble lover as a result of her Preference. Hall blind-date. No wonder she goes to Salt Lake every week end. Ah, Wiggins!

LaVon Squire seems to be the popular one of late. The college town convention is held every afternoon and evening in Amanda's living room. Or is it Emily Clark Hall? Hard to tell the way the mail comes addressed lately.

Please pardon frequent poetic outbursts—Browns and Burnings are trying to influence me.

See ya'

Dorm Doings . . .

Congratulations and the best of luck to two of our former residents, Jackie Henry and Don Shatt, who are heading for El Paso, Texas. We hate to lose them even if it is to matrimony.

Have you heard about our sweet inmate? By the looks of things he has already made quite an impression on two of our loveliest girls, Brooke Cardon and Vivian Scolorah. However, most of us try to avoid him—"Mr. Mumps."

Texas and Utah are really getting that good neighbor policy with "Delta" Barney and Marybeth "Texas" Pierce.

Since Doug Andrews' return from the Christmas holidays his claim to being a married man has really got us guessing!

Jane Strangham, and in time all Allen Hall, was sure excited when "George," a sailor stationed in San Francisco telephoned in the middle of the night.

Late flash! Jimmie Allen has just fallen victim to "Mr. Mumps."

This 'n That

By Mave 'n Pat

Well, rush week is over so we can wipe those eager grins off our faces and act normal once more. We got kinda tired of singing "The Volga Boatman" but it was the only Rushin' song we knew. It's sure going to be fun to snub the freshmen again.

We're sure glad Gosh Week is here. We've been waiting for months for it to come, and if you don't believe it just come and look in our kitchen sinks.

Speaking of boys, some of the fellows had a rabbit hunting trip last Saturday. They had real good luck, but it's the first time we've seen rabbits with wings and brightly colored tail feathers. Course, we haven't been around much. (Maybe it's just because we've never had the price of a Merry-Go-Round ticket.) But getting back to the hunt, Gus Shields got kinda perturbed when he hit the north end of a rabbit going south and it didn't stop. But Bill Paulsipher consoled him by explaining it was probably one of the Dead End kids. Dee Sanford and Shipley Snow seemed to be having fun, too, as far as we could tell from where we were thinning beets in a nearby field.

Legia Rex Lewis was on the hunting trip, too. Isn't he the prettiest boy? When he first saw us he started to shoot, but the rest of the fellows saved our lives by hurriedly explaining we were girls. We didn't realize our ears were noticeably long—just because we have to cut holes in our hats. Or maybe it was those white fur wraps we wear for Christmas. F/O J. Paul McGuire was home for a few days. He sure looked nice in his uniform. I. Paul told us not to feel bad. Even if we didn't have uniforms, we've got plenty of brass.

We just love that radio program called "It Pays to be Ignorant." Every Friday night our mothers let us stay up until 9:30 to hear it. We sure get hot to Lulu McConnell, that gravel-voiced Gertrude. The other night she said that when she was younger she could have had any man she pleased—but she didn't place anybody. Oh, well, we're still trying.

We think it's a neat idea to have a pep rally before each game. It really adds to school pep—really it does!

We heard about the Banyan hall today. They're going to have a queen contest. It's sure going to be hard to choose, though—because we're both so darn cute!

Well, klang, klang," as the trolley so nicely put it, "this is the end of our line."

BYU Men at War

By Miriam Young

The other day a letter from Lt. (j.g.) Rolfe Peterson, officer on an LCI operating near the French coast, came to the office. In it he enclosed a clipping from the Stars and Stripes, army newspaper published in England, which told of the death of Lt. Bert H. Miller, killed somewhere in the Burma-India theatre of operations. Bert was flying in an Air Transport Command and, as most of you know, such planes fly unarmed. Lt. Miller graduated from the Y in 1942 with honors. He was a member of the student body affairs, being a member of Blue Key and the Viking social unit.

To attempt to pay adequate tribute to these friends would be futile, for they have built their own shrines by their lives of service in all things. We shall be proud to emulate their ideals.

Marine Captain Max W. Dix is back from the Pacific where he logged over a thousand combat flying hours in transporting personnel, vital supplies, and evacuating casualties. He is temporarily stationed at the Marine Corps Air Depot, Miramar, California. Capt. Dix's home is in Provo and he enlisted in August, 1941.

Lt. (j.g.) David Swenson was a welcome visitor on our campus last week. Dave is stationed along the East coast training young fellows for service on all types of landing crafts. Incidentally gals, Dave said to tell you that if all of you would come back to Norfolk, Virginia, him he could guarantee a date for everyone, in fact he could handle twice our number. It's a good thing that we didn't have a paper last week to announce this or Dave would have had company on his trip back. Am I right?

Another visitor, who we were glad to see was F/O Paul McGuire. He was home last week before receiving his orders to report for overseas duty.

Lts. Crede Brimhall and Stanley Schmutz, previously reported missing, have now been listed as prisoners of war of the German government.

White Keys Plan Activities

At a meeting last week White Key members were given an outline of the services in which they will assist during the near future. With the beginning of the basketball season, members of the women's honorary will act as hostesses and usher at home games, and will also participate in a between hall marching. According to Joy Swaberg, president, White Keys also anticipate attending games at the University of Utah and at Utah State Agricultural college.

In addition to cheering and marching at games the White Keys will continue with the sale of Student Directories, and will assist in mailing letters to service men. They also plan to help with the current Infantile Paralysis drive.

Because of the many services and activities in which White Keys participate it has become necessary for them to hold night meetings once a month. The first of these was held at the home of Mary Whiteley and Barbara Taylor, and the February meeting will be held at the home of Ruth Englund and Maria Greenhaw.

Hunter Reads At Mask Club

Mask club president, Faye Hunter, read a three act play to members of the organization Monday evening.

A junior, and a speech major, Miss Hunter is also a member of Theta Alpha Phi and Nautilus social unit. The College Varieties program heard every Thursday afternoon is directed by her.

Faye is from Castle Dale, Utah, and her parents and grand parents from that city were here to hear her reading.

Three one-act plays will be presented next week.

Oss Is Guest At Kappa Psi

A rush party in the form of a banquet was held by Alpha Kappa Psi, national honorary business men's fraternity, Monday evening in the Smith building club room. Mr. Earl Oss, manager of the local Woodward store, was the principal speaker. Rush chairman for the affair was Dale Jones. The meeting was presided over by Chad Avery while Phil Robinson was master of ceremonies. Recently elected officers of the organization are: president, John Walker, vice-president, Harold Robins secretary, Chad Avery, treasurer, Lee Olson; and master of rituals, Paul Knutson.

Studio Guild Hears Andrus

Studio Guild members learned of some of the problems the artist meets in painting a portrait as revealed by Roman Andrus of the art department on the evening of January 17 in the Provo City art gallery which contained his exhibit.

Mr. Andrus explained that the artist must take such problems into consideration as where the portrait will be hung; what the outstanding characteristics of the model are; what colors suited to the subject, etc. Mr. Andrus used his own paintings to illustrate his lecture.

Every Tuesday at 3 p. m. dances are held in the women's gym. They are strictly stag affairs and everyone is urged to attend. Unless attendance increases these dances will be abolished. Your cooperation will bring success and continuation of the dances. Come out!

Social Units Hold Pledging Ceremonies For Their Newly Acquired Members

O S Trovata

Informal pledging of the O S Trovata was held Monday night at the home of Betty Gray. The pledges are Shirley Logan, Dean Rhodes, Shirley Sanford, Phyllis Jones, June Smith, Dorothy Wheeler, Helen Barnum, Ann May, Joan Ballif, Lucille Paxman, Dorothy Nicholes, Louis Paul Olson, Annette Bailey, Shirley Christensen, and Corale McCarty.

After the pledging, goat mistresses and goat duties were assigned by Ruth Lindorf, head goat mistress.

Refreshments were served by Alfons Bryson, Ada Jean Holbrook and Betty Gray.

Shirley Romney was elected as OS representative for Baysan queen.

Cesta Tie

Cesta Tie's first pledging ceremonies were held at the home of Mrs. Lorly C. Bryner, sponsor. Tuesday evening President Mary Whiteley directed the ceremonies during which the following girls were pledged: Gloria Schwantes, Glendora Schwantes, Helen Spencer, Vivienne Scott, Janie Thompson, Bertha Allied, Margaret Anderson, Alfay Taylor, Dawaia Dial, Betty Robinson, Maxine Howell, Faye Briggs, June Vee Beck, Gloria Grunman, Maxine Overstad, Nicky Olson, Edith Jensen, Joyce Whiting, Barbara Grandall, Rita Olmsted, Shirley Sanford, Dawn Hilton, Evelyn Kilpatrick, and Marjorie Mercer. LaBrie Cottle and Elaine Anderson were in charge of refreshments.

At a recent business meeting at the home of Mary Whiteley, Margaret Pridgen and Arva Stander were made co-chairmen of Goat Week activities.

El Ano

Pledging for twenty five new members was held Monday evening in the Joseph Smith building, under the direction of Dr. Sanford, president. The new members are: George Fring, George R. Hoffmann, Ariel Ballif, Norman F. Hyatt, Ray S. Whiting, Douglas Webb, William J. Rutter, Howard Worthen, Aaron C. Card, Roland Rasmussen, H. Taylor Reynolds, West Bishop, Don Reber, Reed Frost, Guy Van Alstyne, Arvil Ballif, Paul Thompson, Roy Ott, Andrew Kimball, Maynard Ballif, Clark Greenhaw, Herb Patton, Jerry Zeigler, Bill Pultner, and Reed Mack. The pledges will entertain the old members at a dinner Monday evening. Ariel Ballif is in charge of the dinner and Ray Whiting is in charge of the program.

Tentative plans for a formal dinner dance, which will be held sometime in March, were formed. Paul Thompson was elected reporter.

Val Norm

Saturday night twenty new girls were given their official welcome into Val Norm with the singing of the bid song by the unit members. After each girl was presented, she was given a garden corsage tied with the unit colors, orchid and gold. Pledging ceremonies were held the same night at the home of Maria Forsyth. At this time, each girl was given a key Val Norm pledge pin. She was also given her rules for goat week which started Monday.

Clever invitations invited the members to the annual goat banquet which was held Wednesday night at the Stebb ward. A Bohemian cafe complete with small tables, candle light, spaghetti and music, gay singing and pretty girls dressed waitresses greeted the members. The entire party centered around the Bohemian theme.

Final initiation ceremonies will be held Saturday evening after which the Feast of the Gods will be held in the Community of the Smith building. Edna Nielsen and Donna Ellertson are chairmen of the affair.

The Val Norm pledges are: Rayola Hansen, Billy Olson, Mary Donna Jones, Alene Hale, Charlette Harris, Deanne Taylor, Mary Jane Miner, Claire Dyring, Grace Evance Coleman, Janis Petersen, Agnes Jensen, Bonnie Baker, Elaine Casford, Zola Tamer, Shirley Johnson, Winifred Ellsworth, Carol Wheelwright, Norma Grant, Elsie Christensen, and Arlene Sheppard. Fall quarter pledges also being initiated are Karlene Hess, Louise Dixon, and Earlene Christensen.

B-Y'sers Complete Organization

New officers are busy making plans for a successful B-Y'er Winter quarter. Faye Hunter of Castle Dale, Utah, has been named president of the forum. Aiding Miss Hunter will be Brookline Carson, vice-president; Julie Hansen, secretary; and Dorla Lundblad, publicity manager.

The question under discussion at the Wednesday meetings of January 10 and 17 was "Are Wartime Marriages to be Encouraged?" Following an interesting discussion, the Forum members concluded that wartime marriages are to be encouraged if the couple has known one another two or more years and can reconcile themselves to the possibility of war displacement.

The club meets Friday, January 26 at 4 p. m. in the Faculty room of the Education building to discuss the possible merits and demerits of socialized medicine.

Alta Mitra

They are: Roxey Nelson, Janice Baxter, Lona J. Horsey, Yvonne Drake, Gode Thonert, Josephine Dickson, Lorraine Spencer, Jean Campbell, Rene Ellis, Deane Adams, Carol Keel, Valerie Christensen, Donna Lancaster, Florence Parker, Louise Aron, Barbara Marshall, Lela Gayman, and Leone Wingard. Initial pledging was held Tuesday evening at Lavette Ward's home.

Nautilus

Sunday evening the Nautilus welcomed their new members into the unit and had the traditional candle light pledging at the home of Carma Adams. Each new girl received an NLI pledge pin and a garden corsage tied with a blue ribbon and set in yellow flowers.

Refreshments were served after which Mary Ellen Darnwelder, goat mistress, gave the new pledges all the rules, requirements, and things to learn for goat week.

The following girls were pledged: Faye Hunter, who was taken to last quarter; Helen Anderson, Marian Crittenden, Gertrude Duckworth, Geraldine Green, Geraldine Westley, Frances Barker, Betty Nicholes, Blanche Oakey, Mas O'Rourke, Colleen Page, Marjorie Paxman, Beverly Knudt, Marjorie Scherer, and LaRee Calderwood.

Fidelas

Preliminary pledgings which are being held tonight in the Joseph Smith building, led into the Fidelas eleven new members. They are: Helen Bunell, Mercedes Sorenson, Mary Steyers, Blanche Keller, Joy Thompson, Virginia Aldi, Kathryn Mayer, Dayle Davis, Helen Clagg, Gwen Wahlen and Edna Hoff.

A meeting was held Tuesday for the old members to complete plans for goat week.

La Sorella

La Sorella will soon have an addition of four new girls to their unit. Their pledges are Doris Prence, Nial J. Olson, Irene Beal, and Pauline Johnson. Plans are being made for an active winter quarter.

'Snowbound,' Theme Of Lambda Formal

Lambda Delta Sigma in collaboration with Delta Psi, sponsored its winter semi formal dance last Saturday in the Smith ballroom. Whittier's "Snowbound" was the theme which was carried out in the decorations, programs, and refreshments. They danced to the music of Leonard Thomas' orchestra.

A broadcast over KOVO featuring the Lambda Delta Sigma sweetheart song was the highlight of the affair. Lace Burgis, Elsie Kohler and Ramona Kohler made up the trio and Don Reber was in charge of broadcasting arrangement.

Ethel Hoggie was chairman of the committee for the dance.

Idaho Club Holds Election of Officers

The new officers of the Idaho club for winter quarter are: Arva Stander, president; Sally Stayer, vice-president; LaDene Richins, secretary and treasurer; Janell Ravette, social chairman.

There will be a meeting Friday, January 26 at 5 o'clock in room 260 of the Joseph Smith building. All students from the "Gen" are urged to be present. Refreshments will be served.
